

Technology Troubles

Richard Hill

Digital clocks seem funny to me.
Showing 14-40 at twenty to three.
I find in the mornings they're usually right,
But I can't tell the time between noon and midnight.

My satellite box gives me hundreds of channels,
All shown on the screen in neat rows of panels.
I set to record my favourite drama,
But while I was out it taped Panorama.

I do all my writing on a brand-new PC.
It's second hand really, but it's quite new to me.
They tell me it's fixed with the relevant patches.
But when I press 'save', the damn thing just crashes.

So that's about it for my technical woes.
Why I have problems, well God only knows.
All that's left now is for me to press save.
Click – 'Oh Bugger'...